As-salamu alaykum Dear Brothers & Sisters,

Two powerful earthquakes hit back-to-back, devastating Turkey and northern Syria. Over 33,000 people have died, including thousands of children, and there are nearly 100,000 injured. Your help is urgently needed to bring relief to the thousands of survivors, many of them children and babies, stranded in the brutal cold, without warmth or shelter in winter.

Lasting just 90 seconds, causing complete havoc and despair for the communities across Turkey and Syria, the earthquake was the most powerful in the region for centuries. Whole towns, refugee settlements have now turned to rubble.

‘When there was an earthquake, ‘Umar ibn ‘Abd al-‘Aziz Rahimahullah would write to his governors telling them to give in charity.’ [Ibn Abi Dunya]

Millions of people are displaced under the open sky in freezing cold and the main needs right now are emergency shelters, hot meals and basic relief. There have been more than 243 aftershocks. People have left homes. They are fearful of staying inside, or perhaps fearful of another major earthquake.

Devastated regions across Turkey and Syria have also experienced storms bringing heavy winds, rain and snow, making it extremely difficult. The suffering of people in Syria during this period is unimaginable. Temperatures have now dropped well below the freezing point. Syrian families are facing a harsh winter and they need your help for survival.
